Its taken me this long to see what has happened. Keylan was always so cheerful and happy. This guy was never in a bad mood. He played soccer on my team for a while. After every loss no matter how bad he was still up beat. I am deeply saddened to hear of his passing. Robert Stonerock

I would like to express my condolences at this time to the family of Keylan Katsuji Kaleo Sato. The Bible is a great source of encouragement for times like these. There is a very comforting thought found in Revelation 21:3,4 where it states "...And he will wipe out every tear form their eyes, and death will be no more, neither will mourning nor outcry nor pain be anymore. The former things have passed away." This scripture shows us the promise that our heavenly father is going to fulfill for us in the near future. You can also find comfort in Acts 24:15, which states "And I have hope towards God, which hope these men also look forward to, that there is going to be a resurrection of both the righteous and the unrighteous." Death does not end it all. My thoughts go out to people who are affected by this tragic event and may Jehovah bring you comfort and peace during this difficult time. If you would like more information you can write to 25 Columbia Heights, Brooklyn New York 11201.- Veronica Velazquez
